HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved to mostly lower price levels across the nation during the week ended December 10. Worsening economic conditions in the U.S. coupled with world wide recession pressured most markets lower in spite of tight holding at the farm level. A stronger U.S. dollar further reduced export trading. Export trade has been fairly active all week but the total volume has been below the level necessary to deplete carryover stocks at the end of the season. Unseasonally mild weather, poor feeding margins, and high interest rates discouraged domestic feeding.

WHEAT:

India's purchase of wheat from Australia coupled with slow flour mill grind and lower level of U.S. wheat export movement depressed wheat markets. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 22 3/4 cents per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat fell 27 1/4 cents and Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat eased 5 3/4 cents lower per bushel. Portland soft white wheat fell 20-23 cents per bushel. Minneapolis rye moved steady to up 5 cents per bushel.

CORN:

Corn markets were depressed by large stocks and tight farmer holding failed to maintain most prices. Lack of hard winter weather restricted domestic feed trade. A stronger U.S. dollar slowed export trade. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn dropped 16 1/2 cents per bushel. Kansas City white corn rail market held unchanged due to lack of trade volume but truck market declined 8 cents per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets were mostly lower along with general lower trend of other feed grains and feedstuffs. Minneapolis heavy oats declined 9-11 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley closed steady to 5 cents lower with malster demand slow and Stockton feed barley traded 2-3 cents lower per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum was in poor demand all week and in spite of lack of selling pressure the market declined sharply at Kansas City, falling 12 cents per hundred pounds. The Los Angeles market closed mixed.

OILSEED:

Soybean markets declined sharply in spite of increased export interest in soybeans, oil, and meal. The large U.S. production weighed against values. Lower soybean oil and meal markets contributed to the decline. Processor margins remained narrow due to export competition for the light farm offerings. Illinois Processor Point prices dipped 23-25 1/4 cents lower. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 5 cents due to increased processor buying pressure. Duluth sunflower seed eased 5 cents lower per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

High interest rates kept the economy in a recessive state and political unrest around the world tended to limit export grain demand during the week ended December 17. Domestic feed demand continued slow due to narrow feeding margins. Flour mill and corn processing plants ran curtailed schedules due to slow export and domestic demand. Soybean processing continued slow with farmers holding beans tightly, demand for oil and meal slow and crush margins tight. Farmers tended to hold grains tighter as markets declined and this contributed most of the market stabilizing influence.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets showed an easier tone as flour business lagged and export wheat movement slowed. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 5 cents, down 15 cents per bushel from last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat eased 1/2 cent lower, down 61 cents from last year. Portland soft white wheat declined 20 cents due to fully adequate supplies in the pipeline. Current market is down 50 cents from last season.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved mixed during the period but closed on a firm tone as farmers moved increased amounts into government storage programs which could keep corn off the cash market for up to three years. Cash corn closed generally 1/2 cent to as much as 3 3/4 cents per bushel higher. Current market is about 1.00 per bushel lower than the comparable market last year. White corn markets continued dull and under pressure of large supplies. The Kansas City rail car market fell 5 cents, down 2.75 per bushel from last year.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets went mostly lower under pressure from nearby demand.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum traded mixed as colder weather and snow cover in the midwest caused increased buying interest. Kansas City market rose 12 cents but this 1.63 per hundred pounds below year ago market. Texas high plains market declined 5-10 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Soybean markets declined in spite of tight farm holding and continued good export movement as processor margins remained thin and demand for oil and meal remained slow. Illinois points soybean bids fell 3-6 cents and this is down 1.30-1.32 per bushel from last season. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 15 cents per bushel as some processors switched crush to sunflower seed. Duluth sunflower seed held steady, down 15 cents per hundred pounds from last year.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets were mostly lower during the week ended December 23. Market depressing factors were the Holiday shortened work week, international political tension high, interest rates, slow pace of new export business, and poor animal feeding margins. Contributing some support was tight farmer holding and increased grain movement into grain reserve program.

WHEAT:

Wheat declined sharply under pressure of the short flour grind and slowed pace of wheat export sales. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat fell 22 cents per bushel, 30 3/4 cents below last season. Chicago soft red winter wheat declined 25 1/4 cents, down 85 1/2 cents from last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein eased 3 cents lower, off 58 cents from last year. Portland soft white wheat dipped 15 cents lower, down 51-59 cents from a year ago.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets slipped lower as the hog and pig report which showed reduced numbers weighed on markets. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars traded 3 1/2 cents lower, down 1.15 1/2 per bushel from last season. Other markets declined as much as 5 1/2 cents per bushel during the week. White corn markets continued inactive with trades based generally on yellow corn price direction.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets moved unchanged to lower in dull trade. Minneapolis heavy oats closed steady to 4 cents lower, down 15-20 cents from last year. Minneapolis best malting barley held steady with demand slow and receipts very light. Feed barley markets were mostly unchanged but 65-67 cents below last season.

SORGHUM:

Kansas City yellow sorghum declined 11 cents, down 1.64 per hundred pounds from last year. Export demand picked up late in the week as ships awaited filling at gulf ports.

OILSEED:

Oilseed markets moved mixed with soybean sharply lower with poor animal feeding margins forcing soy meal lower and export demand quiet. Illinois processor point prices dropped 9 1/2-12 cents, down 1.56 1/2-1.63 from last year. Minneapolis flaxseed held unchanged, 20 cents below last season. Duluth sunflower seed held unchanged, up 10 cents per hundred pounds from last year.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains traded at mostly higher levels across the nation during the week ended December 30. Export loadings expanded, farm selling continued light and farmers moved increased amounts of corn into long-term storage programs. Depressing market activity was, the Holiday shortened work week, slowed export sales activity, and political unrest in several areas of the world.

WHEAT:

Wheat trading slowed due to tight farm holding, slowed export sales, and poor world wide political climate for doing business. Lack of farm selling forced buyers to raise offered prices to attract stocks. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 11 1/2 cents per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 19 1/2 cents and Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat went up 6 3/4 cents per bushel. Portland soft white wheat ranged 10-15 cents higher per bushel.

CORN:

Farmers moved increasing amounts of corn into reserve programs and withheld stocks from the market. Traders bid the market higher to attract selling. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars was bid 6 1/2 cents higher. Other yellow corn markets ranged as much as 15 cents per bushel over the previous Wednesday. Kansas City milling quality white corn held unchanged per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Lack of farm selling forced oats markets higher as demand remained steady. Minneapolis heavy oats rose 8-13 cents per bushel. Feed barley markets were mixed as users switched to lower cost corn. The Portland market was up 4-5 cents while the Stockton market eased 2-3 cents lower and the Minneapolis market held steady for feed and malting barley.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum tended to follow the cash corn markets, higher in spite of slow demand as farm offerings were extremely light. Kansas City multi cars moved up 17 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEED:

Narrow crush margins depressed processor price ideas but light farmer selling forced most soybean markets higher. Illinois Processor Point soybeans advanced 5 1/2 - 6 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis market eased 2 1/4 cents lower due to poor crushed margin. Minneapolis flaxseed unchanged in slow trade. Duluth sunflower seed rose 40 cents per hundred pounds.
